ARE YOU TEACHING ON A UK HEALTH PSYCHOLOGY COURSE?

Then these “Training the Trainers” CPD events are a great opportunity for you to broaden your understanding of applied health psychology practice and to ensure you have appropriate training and assessing skills to teach the applied health psychology knowledge base and interventions training.

These events support course staff to teach the stage 1 applied knowledge standards and stage 2 interventions competencies themselves rather than requiring professionals from non-health psychology backgrounds to teach their trainees.

Who are these events for?

- Academic staff with limited experience of working with individual patients in a therapeutic health service.
- Academic staff wanting to enhance their understanding of how to apply health psychology knowledge and professional competences in everyday applied practice.
- Staff wanting to improve trainees' communication, patient-relationship and therapeutic skills to improve their ability to secure employment in healthcare services.

Meet other trainers, develop new teaching skills & enhance your courses' reputation
